

Physical Resource Standard

CC Joy Enterprises Pty Ltd trading as Col Joy Training Services recognises the importance of providing a suitable learning environment and adequate resources for each and every training session that they conduct.

Training venues and equipment selected will be done so in good faith that they meet the requirements of the training course and comply with all Workplace Health & Safety Standards appropriate.

The Physical Environment will:

- Include types of electronic media, and training aids appropriate to the training being delivered.
- Meet any specific requirements laid down in the relevant curriculum documentation / National Training Package;
- Be conducive to learning and the participants' physical and mental well being;
- Reflect current workplace practices where applicable to the training content;
- Satisfy all relevant Federal, State and Local Government regulations and by-laws;
- Chosen to provide access and facilities for disabled participants (where applicable).

Physical Resources that meet the following criteria will be provided to all training participants:

- Cover the range and level of skills development required to achieve the qualification and meet any specific requirements laid down in the relevant curriculum documentation / National Training Package;
- Be consistent with the principles of adult learning to maximise the likelihood of each participant achieving competence;
- Allow repetitive practice where appropriate
- Be customised to reflect current workplace practices, processes and resources where applicable to the training content;
- Provide sufficient relevant background readings and/or reference lists to allow suitable further independent study where appropriate.
